the Fischamend (P 49/X 58) highway at about 10 a.m. included jeep [redacted] occupied by three officers, truck E 7-45-81 occupied by 6 soldiers and loaded with 3 tables, drivers and soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets, and rocket-launchers carriers [redacted] each occupied by 4 soldiers wearing red-bordered black epaulets with artillery insignia. The guide rails of the rocket launchers, whose height indicated model M-13 weapons, were covered with canvas. 3

4. Ordnance and motor vehicles observed in the barracks installation in Kagrán (P 49/X 49) on 1 April 1954 included 6 barrels of tank guns exceeding a man's height without muzzle brakes, 8 barrels of tank guns exceeding a man's height with muzzle brakes, and 10 trucks. The section of the installation quartering an AAA unit could not be observed. Motor vehicles observed at the installation included jeep [redacted] and trucks [redacted] drivers with red-bordered black epaulets. One SP gun without a muzzle brake and two armored full-track vehicles with muzzle brakes were parked under a shed-roof in the area between the barracks installation and the athletic field. Twelve tank trucks [redacted] were parked in the fuel depot. Motor vehicles leaving the barracks installation in Kagrán on 2 April 1954 included [redacted] drivers with red-bordered black epaulets, and truck [redacted] driver with red-bordered black epaulets with tank insignia. Armored vehicles leaving the installation toward the Stadlau (P 49/X 49) railroad station at about 4 p.m. included 5 SP guns each of which had 6 bogie wheels, 3 track-supporting rollers, 1 tank gun of about man's height with muzzle brake to the right of the vehicle axis, and 1 AA machine gun on the right side of the hull; and 6 SP guns which were the same model, but mounted no muzzle brakes. All SP guns were unnumbered. Other 10 SP guns were ready for entraining at the Stadlau railroad station. The day after the SP guns had left, the barrels of tank guns exceeding a man's height, six with muzzle brakes and eight without muzzle brakes as on the preceding day, and truck [redacted] driver with red-bordered black epaulets, were observed in the installation. The shed-roof between the barracks installation and the athletic field, however, was empty. Nine tank trucks were parked in the fuel depot. 4
